

The School of Liberal Arts

The School of Liberal Arts offers the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees in Rural Studies with concentrations in Rural Arts and Culture and Rural Social and Community Affairs; and freshman and sophomore programs in Art, Agricultural Communication, Communication, English, Foreign Language, History, Journalism, Liberal Arts, Music, and Political Science, leading to the Associate of Arts degree and to further study at the senior college. Career options for students in these programs include fine and commercial art; advertising, photography, and graphics; newspaper, periodical, radio, television, or technical writing; broadcasting; speech writing; theatre; music directing and teaching, musical instrument repair and sales, music recording; public or government service; law; management and other careers dependent on excellent communication skills.

A student augments Liberal Arts course work by extensive practical experience, by co-curricular activity, and by participating in the programs of the unique and nationally recognized Abraham Baldwin Arts Connection.

RURAL STUDIES IN THE SCHOOL OF LIBERAL ARTS

The School of Liberal Arts offers two programs of study that lead to the B.A. or B. S. degrees in Rural Studies: Rural Arts and Culture and Rural Social and Community Affairs. The degree concentrations build upon the basic knowledge, skills, and values provided by the College Core Curriculum while preparing students for a wide range of careers as well as for graduate study in numerous fields. The interdisciplinary degrees address the social, demographic, political, and cultural aspects of rural development in North America and prepare students to identify needs and to offer workable solutions for issues of the changing rural landscape. The programs prepare students for work in government, non-profit, and private sector organizations that deal with rural issues, such as Habitat for Humanity, AmericCorps, the UGA extension service and the Southern Rural Development Center and also with Arts Councils, Mainstreet programs and others of similar nature; or be ready to enter professions or graduate school programs in areas such as historic preservation, rural sociology, global studies, journalism, law, and others. Each concentration emphasizes the importance of critical thinking skills, encourages an appreciation of diverse cultural perspectives, and develops a greater understanding of the issues particular to the rural environment to provide an avenue of self-knowledge, cultural understanding, and social responsibility.

Students seeking to enter the Rural Studies program must have a 2.5 GPA and a minimum of 42 hours of collegiate credit. Transfer students must meet transfer requirements for the College, which may differ from requirements for admission to the Bachelor program. Acceptance to ABAC does not guarantee acceptance into the Rural Studies program.
