Rural Studies Students Present Ideas to Telfair County

Students involved in the new bachelor's degree program in Rural Studies at Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College presented three plans for economic development to leadership from Telfair County on Dec. 3. The students developed plans on downtown development, tourism, and auditorium renovation as a part of their Introduction to Rural Studies class.

"Our mission in developing the Rural Studies program is to educate young people on the uniqueness, value and opportunities of the rural communities," community leaders with resources for successful grant writing in order to get funding for future projects.

The Taste of Telfair tourism group suggested a Telfair County Travel Guide including maps, history, amenities, and important phone numbers for each city in the county. This would allow community businesses to display for travelers to pick up. These guides could also be sent out as promotional pieces to organizations to plan trips to Telfair County. The group members suggested selling advertisements in the book to Dr. Niles Reddick, Vice President of Academic Affairs, co-teaches the Rural Studies introductory class with Dr. Bobbie Robinson, Dean of the ABAC School of Liberal Arts. For more information about the ABAC Bachelor's degree in Rural Studies, prospective students can contact Paul Willis at (229) 391-4906 or visit www.abac.edu/ruralstudies.

Telfair County officials and the ABAC Rural Studies students gathered for a picture after the presentations on projects which could help the county.

ABAC President David Bridges said. "We want to see each of these projects through; hopefully through internships and future class projects. This is not the end of the partnership."

The 14 students divided into three groups and not only developed ideas for the plans, but also funding resources available for these types of projects. Each group spoke to the Telfair County leadership about its ideas, and provided binders with more information and contacts to get the projects up and running.

The downtown development group suggested conducting two surveys, one for business owners on what would bring them to a downtown area and another for community members about what they want to see in a downtown area. These surveys would give Telfair County officials some data to build a plan to work toward for the downtown McRae area. The group also provided local businesses to cover the costs of printing the guides.

McRae has a beautiful auditorium; however it is not functional in its current state. New seats are currently being installed, but there is much more that needs to be done. The auditorium group developed ideas for its use including the obvious performance hall in addition to an art studio for displaying local artists' work. The group also provided several fundraising ideas such as movie in the park, a haunted theatre, and reverse raffles to raise money for the renovations.

"I appreciate all the work these students put into this project," said Paula Rogers, President of the Telfair Chamber of Commerce. "I look forward to seeing these projects come to fruition and the relationship between ABAC and Telfair County to develop into a long lasting partnership."

PSBOC Open House Jan. 7 in Dining Hall

The Public Service and Business Outreach Center at ABAC will hold an Open House on Jan. 7 from 3:30 – 5:30 p.m. in the Donaldson Dining Hall.

The open house will feature a preview of this spring's 2010 programs, and instructors will be on hand to meet and answer questions about classes. Participants will have the chance to win door prizes, and light refreshments will be served.

Those interested in PSBOC classes can register at the open house and receive a 10 percent discount.

For more information, contact the PSBOC office at (229) 391-5070.

ABAC Will Be Closed Dec. 24 Through Jan. 4

ABAC will close at 5 p.m. on Wednesday for the holidays and will reopen at 8 a.m. on Jan. 5, 2010. Thursday and Jan. 4 will be taken as the fifth and sixth furlough days for ABAC faculty and staff of the 2009-10 academic year. ABAC President David Bridges said taking the furlough days at that time will allow faculty and staff extra time with their families during the holidays. It will also allow the college to save on energy consumption by delaying the return of employees until Jan. 5, 2010. Beginning on Jan. 5, 2010, ABAC will return to an 8 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. schedule on a Monday through Thursday basis and 8 a.m. until 3 p.m. on Fridays.

Memorable Events For ABAC In 2009 Calendar Year

In the calendar year 2009, ABAC sent students and faculty to China, Brazil and all points in between. ABAC transitioned its academic divisions into schools of study in the first year of its second century of service. Those stories were just the tip of the iceberg as ABAC embraced its status as a bachelor's degree granting institution.

Here are some of the highlights of 2009 at ABAC:

- President David Bridges announced that the ABAC academic curriculum will be divided into six schools of study and that Deans would be appointed for each school.
- Dr. Gerald Williams, Jr., became the new Director of Student Support Services on Feb. 1.
- Paul Willis became the Director of College Enrichment on Feb. 13.
- New inductees into the Athletics Hall of Fame included Ellen Vickers, Dorsey Brooks, P.W. Bryan, Jr., Cook Holliday, Newell "Sarge" Dorsey, and the 1984 men's tennis team which won the national championship.
- The ABAC student newspaper, "The Stallion," claimed 17 awards at the annual Georgia College Press Association contest, including first place in the General Excellence category. The newspaper also received top statewide honors from the Southern Regional Press Institute.
- Junior Chapman, an agriculture education major from Jasper, won the title in the 18th annual Mr. ABAC competition.
- ABAC Police Chief Bryan Golden was appointed to the Georgia Peace Officer Standards and Training Council by Governor Sonny Perdue.
- ABAC student Tanya Rafferty was featured in a Georgia Public Television video as the winner of a Regents' Scholarship. She became the first four-year scholarship winner in the history of ABAC.
- Gene Ragan received the Distinguished Alumnus award from the ABAC Alumni Association during the Celebrate ABAC weekend.
- Amanda Bridges was appointed to the position of Chief Financial Officer of the ABAC Foundation.
- Dr. Eddie Seagle and eight students from the bachelor's degree program in Turfgrass and Golf Course Management attended and taught classes on a visit to China on March 12-27.
- Deans were appointed for the six different schools of study. They included Dr. Tim Marshall, Agriculture and Natural Resources; Dr. Jeff Gibbs, Business; Wanda Golden, Nursing and Health Sciences; Dr. Darby Sewell (Interim), Human Sciences; Dr. Bobbie Robinson, Liberal Arts; and Dr. Ray Barber, Science and Mathematics.

- Laura Tucker (Class of '88) from Ocilla was selected as the new President of the ABAC Alumni Association.
- Dr. Larry Moorman and his wife, Debra, transitioned ownership of the clubhouse at Forest Lakes Golf Club to the ABAC Foundation. The Moormans donated the 91-acre Forest Lakes Golf Club to the Foundation in 2002.
- On March 23, ABAC unveiled its newest bachelor's degree program in Rural Studies. Classes in the program began during the fall semester.
- The Student Affairs area completed a Rapid Process Improvement (RPI) initiative from the Governor's Office of Customer Service. The result was improved service in enrollment services including admissions and financial aid. Diane Kilgore and Dr. Chrystle Ross headed up the project.
- Students from ABAC finished third in the Southeastern Wildlife Student Conclave in Little Rock, Ark. ABAC finished ahead of Auburn, Florida, Clemson, North Carolina State, Louisiana State, Tennessee, and other major universities.
- At Honors Day, Hector Olguin, an engineering major from Ty Ty, received the J.G. Woodroof Scholar award, representing the top academic student at ABAC. Faculty/staff award winners included Geoff Clement, W. Bruce and Rosalyn Ray Donaldson Award for Teaching Excellence; Shirley Wilson, Roy R. Jackson, Sr., Award for Staff Excellence; Dr. Jeff Gibbs, E. Lanier Carson Leadership Award; and Dr. Jewrell Rivers, W. Bruce and Rosalyn Ray Donaldson Excellence in Advising Award.
- The ABAC women's tennis team won its 16th consecutive NJCAA Region XVII title behind the play of MVP Monika Lalewicz. The Stallions also won the men's championship led by MVP Rasid Winklaar. Lalewicz was later named Player of the Year in the entire NJCAA for the second consecutive season. She finished second in her bid for back-to-back national titles. Assistant Coach Dale White was named NJCAA Assistant Coach of the Year.

- Dr. Eddie Seagle and Diane Kilgore were selected as recipients of the 2009

Dr. Eddie Seagle and eight ABAC students stand atop the Great Wall of China during their visit.

Governor's Commendation for Excellence in Customer Service quarterly award.

- Edwin Glover, Richard Irvin, Garrett Jones, and Joshua Lanier became the first bachelor's degree recipients in the history of ABAC at the spring commencement ceremony. Keith Lee received the prestigious Donaldson Award. Jim Sparks was the guest speaker.

- Assistant Chief of Police Billy Purcell received a Raymond B. Merritt Officer of the Year award from the Tifton Optimist Club.
- Matt Holland won the national championship at #6 singles for the Stallions' tennis team, which finished in third place overall in the national tourney..
