Cook County resident, Dr. Tim Marshall, received the E. Lanier Carson Leadership Award for College Administrators presented annually at ABAC’s Honors Day ceremony. Marshall is the Dean of the School of Agriculture and Natural Resources at ABAC.
Cook County Resident Wins Top Administrative Award at ABAC Honors Day

TIFTON—Dr. Tim Marshall, a resident of Cook County, received the top administrative award presented at Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College during Wednesday’s Honors Day ceremony.

Marshall, the Dean of the School of Agriculture and Natural Resources at ABAC, received the E. Lanier Carson Leadership Award for College Administrators presented annually at the event.

Marshall earned his associate degree in agriculture from ABAC in 1977 and his bachelor’s degree in animal science from the University of Georgia in 1979. He received a master’s degree in beef cattle management in 1981 and his doctorate in beef cattle breeding and management in 1986, both from the University of Florida.

Marshall had a distinguished teaching career at the University of Florida before returning to ABAC in 2006 as Chair of the Division of Agriculture and Forest Resources at ABAC. He was instrumental in bringing the first bachelor’s degrees in the School of Agriculture and Natural Resources to ABAC’s curriculum.

During his time at ABAC, Marshall has developed partnerships with corporations including Bayer Crop Science, John Deere, and Bobcat, Inc., that benefit students in the many agricultural-related fields at the college. Marshall received a plaque and a check for $1,250 from the ABAC Foundation.

###