LOCAL STUDENTS CHOSEN AS ABAC AMBASSADORS

TIFTON--Joel McKie and Jennifer Raynor, both Abraham Baldwin College students, have been selected to participate in one of the most prestigious organizations on campus, the ABAC Ambassadors.

McKie, a sophomore agri-business major from Abbeville, is the son of Eddie and Kay O. McKie. Raynor, a freshman business administration major from Fitzgerald, is the daughter of Tim and Sharron Raynor. McKie serves as parliamentarian for the Ambassadors, and Raynor serves as secretary.

Through a process involving application, letters of recommendation, and interviews, college administrators choose students whom they believe to be motivated and who show leadership potential to serve as Ambassadors.

The Ambassadors assist the offices of public relations and admissions, representing and promoting the college at a variety of community and college events. They work to maintain positive relationships between students, faculty, alumni, and the community.

To continue in the organization, students must maintain at least a 2.5 cumulative grade point average on a 4.0 scale and commit at least 30 hours per semester to their service as Ambassadors.
