Associate of Applied Science degree with a major in Forestry

Student Learning Outcomes

1. Students will demonstrate a working knowledge of the biological principles of forest resources.
2. Students will exhibit technical skills for characterizing the forest resource.
3. Students will recognize business applications and management skills related to timber industry.