ABAC Concert Choir Presents Spring Concert April 9

TIFFON – Music Program Director Susan Roe will lead the 75-member Concert Choir in its annual performance on April 9 at 7 p.m. in Howard Auditorium. The concert is open to the public at no charge.

“Our choirs continue to increase in size every year,” Roe, a professor of voice at ABAC, said. “These students are from all over the southeastern part of the United States.”
The performance will begin with “The Star Spangled Banner” written by Francis Scott Key, composed by John Stafford Smith and arranged by Darmon Meader. It will be followed by “The ABAC Alma Mater” by Dr. Libby Campbell and Wayne Jones, arranged by Zoe Hobby. Johann Sebastian Bach’s “Sanctus No. IV” arranged by David Stocker will follow the college’s alma mater. The ABAC Instrumental Ensemble will join Dr. Jurs in accompanying the choir for this piece.

The Concert Choir will sing “Where Dwells The Soul of My Love” by David N. Childs. Eric Whitacre’s “A Boy and a Girl” will then be performed by The ABAC Singers. The ABAC Chamber Singers will perform “Veniki” by F. Rubstov and “Disney Dazzle!” arranged by Mac Huff.

The ABAC Jazz Choir will perform James Van Huesen’s ‘Come Fly With Me” arranged by Mac Huff and “As Time Goes By” by Herman Hupfeld and arranged by Jay Althouse with soloists Lauren Lever and Matthew Fuller. Lever is a vocal major from Tifton and Fuller is a voice major from Fitzgerald.

The concert will conclude with the entire Concert Choir performing Hall Johnson’s “Ain’t Got Time to Die” with soloists Erica Humbert, a vocal major from Thomasville and Terrence Gibson, a vocal major from Baxley followed by “He Never Failed Me Yet” by Robert Ray with soloists Travius Burch, a vocal major from Sylvester and Steve Turner, a criminal justice major from Polk County, Fla.
